I bought my 3rd vehicle from Apion and I must say the service was awesome. I now like and have been purchasing my vehicles there since I was 18 and will continue to do so. The service and advice are the best. Thank you Apion for all of your time and effort in helping me get the right vehicle for me. You are the best!APRIL 24, 2017 ★★★★★
I recently purchased a 2016 Chevrolet Equinox and had a great experience. The salesperson and staff at Apion were very nice and helpful. I have been purchasing my vehicles there since I was 18 and will continue to do so. The service and advice are the best. Thank you Apion for all of your time and effort in helping me get the right vehicle for me. You are the best!

Angie Kelley

Name: Angie Kelley.

Bradford

Occupation: Volunteer serving lunch at Senior Center.

Best day of your life: The day in March of 1940 when I landed in New York harbor from Italy. Our's was the last boat to leave Italy before the full outbreak of WWII!

Best vacation: When my husband and I went back to visit my old village in Italy, San Donato. It's funny how big it seemed as a girl. It's really tiny!

Favorite season: Spring, when everything is blooming.

Favorite holiday: Definitely Christmas, when I can celebrate with my six children and their families, all 33 of us (plus one great grandchild on the way)!

Favorite part of Cohasset: How to choose just one! The beach, the harbor, the common... it's all beautiful!

Best book: "Woman of Substance" by Mary Taylor

HOW TO HELP

Ridding Pepperweed from Bassing Beach

Volunteers needed:

Despite technically being located in Scituate, Bassing Beach has long been considered one of Cohasset's treasures. A 3/4 mile long barrier beach on an island accessible only by boat, the property has been held by the Cohasset Conservation Trust for 50 years and was in fact the catalyst for the organization's founding. It's a beloved spot for Cohasset and Scituate residents to picnic, walk the beach, fish and swim. And now it really needs your help.

The danger? Perennial Pepperweed, a highly invasive plant that is newly arrived to the area and threatens the island's healthy native ecosystem. The plant, which can grow up to 8 feet tall, damages the areas it colonizes by displacing native plants and animals, decreasing plant diversity, and negatively impacting waterfowl trying to nest in the area. Combating Pepperweed early is the best chance for rooting it out, thereby enabling the native plants (some recently reintroduced by the Cohasset Conservation Trust) to have the best shot at flourishing.

On Saturday May 20th at 8 a.m., rain or shine, volunteers are needed to battle this invader, and a naturalist will be on hand to instruct volunteers in the proper technique.

for more information.

The Cohasset Conservation Trust is dedicated to preserving natural assets, open space and wildlife habitats for future generations, and holds over 204 acres of shoreline, upland forest, wetlands and meadow in the town of Cohasset.

Kicking-off a Common Occurrence

Ring in springtime this Saturday, May 20th, as the Cohasset Farmers Market kicks off its 21st season from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. With a venue "suitable for framing," the Cohasset Common offers a chance to relax and stroll through some fun, offering fresh, natural, organic and craft items, homemade and home grown with love and care.

This year's vendor lineup is exceptional, offering wonderful variety and looking to please! Regular season begins every Thursday from June 8th through Oct. 5th, from 2 to 6 p.m.

The Cohasset market seeks to provide an enjoyable venue which serves as a community gathering place to nurture relationships, encourage healthy, local living, environmental and economic sustainability. Please join us Saturday and be part of one of Cohasset's favorite traditions.

HOW TO HELP

Applicants for town committees sought

The town is seeking applications from residents to serve on various committees, commissions and boards. Interested residents must be registered voters in Cohasset and willing to make the time commitment necessary to fulfill the responsibilities including attendance at meetings and training where required.

Most appointments are made by the Selectmen. But Capital Budget, Advisory Committee, and Alternative Energy Committee are made by the TROIKA, represented by the chairman of the Board of Selectmen and Advisory Committee and the Town Moderator.

May 31 in the Selectmen's Office. For more, including a list of positions, visit: cohassetma.org.

BRIEFLY

Schubert is new Selectmen Chairman

Paul Schubert, MD, is now the chairman of the Board of Selectmen. Selectman Jack Kenley will serve as vice chairman and Selectman Diane Kennedy as clerk.

The transition of power went smoothly Monday night as then Selectmen Chairman Kevin McCarthy took nominations. The new roles were voted unanimously.

McCarthy then passed the gavel to Schubert and selectmen changed their seats at the dais to reflect their new roles.

Music at Corner Stop

The Corner Stop Eatery on Hull Street is going to have music on some evenings. Selectmen approved Selectmen two years ago. "This is going to be another very good and productive year and I look forward to working with all of you," Schubert said.

Chairman of the Alternative Energy Committee Mary Jo Larson even noted the town is losing over $2,000 a light while waiting to begin harnessing the power.

"We're in a good spot," she notes, "and it seems to make sense for the town to go forward with National Grid so they can fine-tune the agreement and everything else."

Bodell - who served as chairman during the initial negotiations surrounding the solar array in 2012 - also touched upon a series of loopholes that could potentially affect any proposals to the town just from that little landfill," she said. "It's important that we get it done and we get it going."

-Tanya Bodell

"I'm estimating $20,000 to $40,000 a year of savings to the town just from that little landfill, so it's important that we get it done and we get it going."

-Tanya Bodell

The problem, Bodell noted, is that National Grid's draft of the easement blends two different components into one proposal: "One for purposes of the interconnect and the other was the easement for purposes of the energy that's supplied to the DPW."

"Worst case scenario is we have a temporary license and then go to Town Meeting to get permission in the fall, but we're hoping we don't have to go to Town Meeting," she said, reiterating her faith in finding a timely yet simple solution.

"I'm estimating $20,000 to $40,000 a year of savings for easements regarding that particular project,

"One of the exemptions for purposes of procurement is power supply from a utility because the utility is the only utility that's providing that service," she mentioned, adding, "we're just looking into whether that also applies for the distribution of the easements, and we think it might. If that's the case, it's going to be easy."

Bodell additionally questions the need to provide an easement to National Grid as a potential exemption under the Uniform Procurement Act under Massachusetts state law.

On top of National Grid's easement request, Palmer Capital has also thrown a wrench into the town's plans by suggesting a series of amendments to the power purchase agreement and the lease it shares with the town of Cohasset before officially opening the site for business.

"Some of them are just relatively minor," said Bodell. "It's been awhile since we first entered into the agreement with them and some of the deadlines that were in the agreement have come and gone... But as part of just cleaning up some of the loose ends, they had some changes."

With the project so close to fruition, Bodell echoed the hopes of most town officials in regard to this project: "We're just trying to push it over the finish line."

FAIRNESS FOR PREGNANT WORKERS (H.3680)

House 150-0, approved and sent to the Senate. The Pregnant Workers Fairness Act aimed at preventing discrimination based on pregnancy and guaranteeing reasonable accommodations and safety measures for pregnant mothers. Reasonable accommodations include time off to recover from childbirth; more frequent, longer paid or unpaid breaks; acquiring or modifying workstations or seating arrangements; obtaining a temporary transfer; job restructuring; lighter duty; and a private no-bathroom space for expressing breast milk – unless any of these would create undue hardship on the employer.

The legislation also prohibits an employer from discriminating against, refusing to employ or terminating a woman because she is pregnant or a condition related to pregnancy.

Supporters said a pregnant woman should not have to fear losing her job when she is still contributing with some reasonable adjustments. They argue the bill would ensure pregnant women are treated fairly in the workplace. They noted that pregnant women are pushed out of their jobs and often treated worse than other employees with similar limitations.

(A "Yes" vote is for the bill.)

INCREASE TAX BREAK FOR VETERANS (H.1602) - The House gave initial approval to legislation that makes a change in the current law that allows cities and towns to establish a program permitting veterans to volunteer their services to the community in exchange for up to a $1,000 property tax reduction. The proposal raises the reduction to $1,500.

Supporters said this increase is overdue and will help thousands of veteran homeowners who made sacrifices to defend the nation.

Opponents say that the bill is unnecessary because nearly all infertility clinics already offer the option of donating their leftover embryos to other couples. They say that that this "adopt an embryo" term is supported by right-to-life groups to promote the belief that frozen embryos are the equivalent of children.

With the project so close to fruition, Bodell echoed the hopes of most town officials in regard to this project: "We're just trying to push it over the finish line."

Opponents say that the bill is unnecessary because nearly all infertility clinics already offer the option of donating their leftover embryos to other couples. They say that that this "adopt an embryo" term is supported by right-to-life groups to promote the belief that frozen embryos are the equivalent of children.

With the project so close to fruition, Bodell echoed the hopes of most town officials in regard to this project: "We're just trying to push it over the finish line."

run to a very good ball club. The team is very happy with their win over Hull, a game that they all look forward to every year and really get excited for. Michael Cohen highlighted the day leading it off with a triple and going 2 for 4 while pitching 5 strong innings and not giving up an earned run and Michael Milanoski led the charge offensively with 5 RBI!

Heading into a Thursday May 18 game at Norwell (result unavailable at press time), the Skippers record is 7-5 in the South Shore League.

They have games against East Bridgewater at home Saturday May 21 at 2:30 p.m. against East Bridgewater and are at Abington Tuesday May 23 at 4 p.m.

Cohasset second baseman Michael Cohen fires to first looking for a double play at Scituate Sunday April 23. Cohen has also been outstanding on the mound this season. [WICKED LOCAL PHOTO/ WILLIAM WASSERSUG]

CSCR

Bryant takes helm at Junior Research program

By Jack Buckley
Special to the Monitor

Susan Bryant grew up in, on, and around the waters of Coliaset Harbor. She's an adventurer, environmentalist, mariner, and documentary film-maker most comfortable sharing her passions for the ocean with Coliaset youth. It's an honor, therefore, for CCSR to announce that Susan Bryant will be leading CCSR's Junior Research Program, an exploratory science program for students entering grades 6, 7, and 8.

Bryant is the perfect fit to lead and develop a program that gets active middle schoolers to explore the shoreline and turn their curiosities in research questions. She studied Human Ecology at Connecticut College and Wildlife Biology at The School For Field Studies, and for five years did teacher training workshops across the country for ZPG/The Population Connection before leaving for a simple fishing village in Madagascar as a Peace Corps Volunteer.

She ran an Environmental Internship Program for two years, and then joined the world of documentary film-making. After two years as Head Teacher at the experimental Ganderia Middle School, in Norway, Maine, she came back to Cohasset to share her passions with Cohasset students as a rowing coach with CMI (Cohasset Maritime Institute) and as Project Leader for CCSR's study of eel grass beds in Cohasset Harbor. She's the resident expert on eelgrass in our harbor, for over the past two years she's worked with CCSR students and regional scientists from BU, MIT, and the EPA to methodically develop field and lab protocols for documenting the health of eel grass, zosteraria marina.

Miya Bishop using the drill press at CCSR to engineer a salinity well. Junior Research Program students build salinity wells to measure the salt content of water held deep in the peat bed that supports marsh vegetation.

Junior Research Program students Miya Bishop and Brian Hixson explore crabs and minnows at the Bailey Creek salt marsh. Student leader Levente Haber, background, attends to work with others.

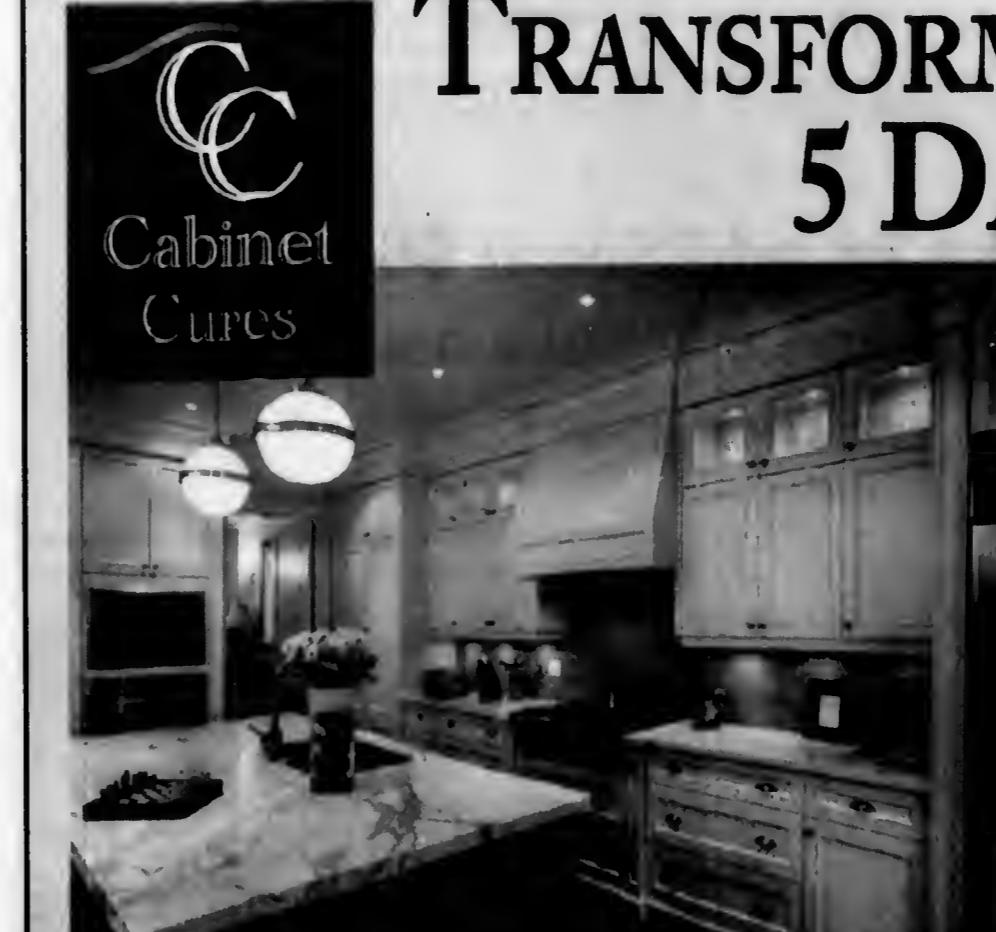

Susan Bryant in action at CCSR teaching her dad, John, how to prepare sails for surface current drifters. Drifters are deployed off shore and are equipped with GPS units that transmit their position to satellites. Oceanographers and CCSR students use drifters to study ocean currents and the role of currents in planktonic drift and transport of microplastics. [COURTESY PHOTOS]

"The boys on the beach" display some of the trash, or marine debris plucked from local waters. The study of marine debris is an explosive new topic in oceanography as more and more discoveries are made about the harmful impact of microplastics on the tiny fragments that come from big plastics thrown, blown, and dumped in our oceans.

Poppy Drive over Memorial Day weekend

Cohasset's VFW Ralph Perronello Post 9146 will conduct its "Buddy" Poppy flower drive during Memorial Day weekend.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Annual Poppy drive is the organization's only fundraiser and will be held from May 25th to May 28th at local Cohasset businesses.

The official memorial flower of the VFW symbolizes the honor and tribute paid to those who have made the ultimate sacrifice for our Country.

All proceeds from the Annual Poppy Drive are given back to the community and for services to benefit local Veterans.

The Cohasset VFW Post 9146 has three established programs that benefit from the Annual Poppy Drive:

■ Veterans Taking Care of Veterans: Engage with and financially support charities and non-profits whose primary mission is to address issues faced by Veterans and their families.

■ Eternal Honor: In conjunction with the Cohasset Veterans Memorial Committee, the VFW works to provide a sustainable, long-term program that will improve the upkeep of the town's Memorial Squares and Gold Star Mothers' Memorial in Cohasset. Through adequate funding, routine upkeep, and volunteerism, the VFW will preserve these places of remembrance to forever honor our Fallen Comrades.

■ Scholarships & Community Support: Provide financial support to local charities and non-profits that serve the Cohasset community. Provide Cohasset

High School students with $2,000 in college scholarships.

The VFW will be collecting Poppy donations at these locations around Cohasset - Stop & Shop, Shaws, Curtis Liquors, and Aubuchon Hardware.

Volunteers wanted! If you would like to donate 2 hours for a shift at a Poppy table, contact Joe Langelle at 617-653-2054.

Show your support for the "Buddy" Poppy Drive and help support the Cohasset VFW Post 9146 and our Veterans on Memorial Day weekend.

Other donations by check can be made out to "Cohasset VFW Post 9146" and mailed to PO Box 437 Cohasset, MA 02025.

OUTDOOR EXPLORATION

Magical Quest at Ingram Park in Cohasset

Visitors to Cohasset Conservation Trust's Quest will be enchanted by fairy and troll homes tucked into nature's forest, at tree trunks and inside wooded hollows. (Courtesy photo)

Exploring Cohasset's George M. Ingram Park is about to become more fun and enchanting with the April launch of Cohasset Conservation Trust's (CCT) new whimsical clue-directed quest that draws on rich fairy-tale lore. The self-guided, one-mile nature walk, "Magical Creatures of Ingram Quest" turns exploration into an enchanting and curious hunt, revealing little fairies and trolls, plus their delicate homes with tiny doors crafted in tree hollows, and miniature living accessories all made of biodegradable wood, twigs, lichen and fungi. The quest ends with a treasure box containing a stamp and notebook to record success.

"Last year's CCT Quest through Great Brewster Woods was a huge success with more than 250 people participating. Cohasset is blessed with beautiful open space to roam and exceptional glacial geography for exploring wildlife, plants, and

SENIORS

Legacy writing class offered

On three Mondays in June, Cohasset Elder Affairs will offer a Legacy/Family Letter Writing class led by syndicated columnist Chuck Jaffe.

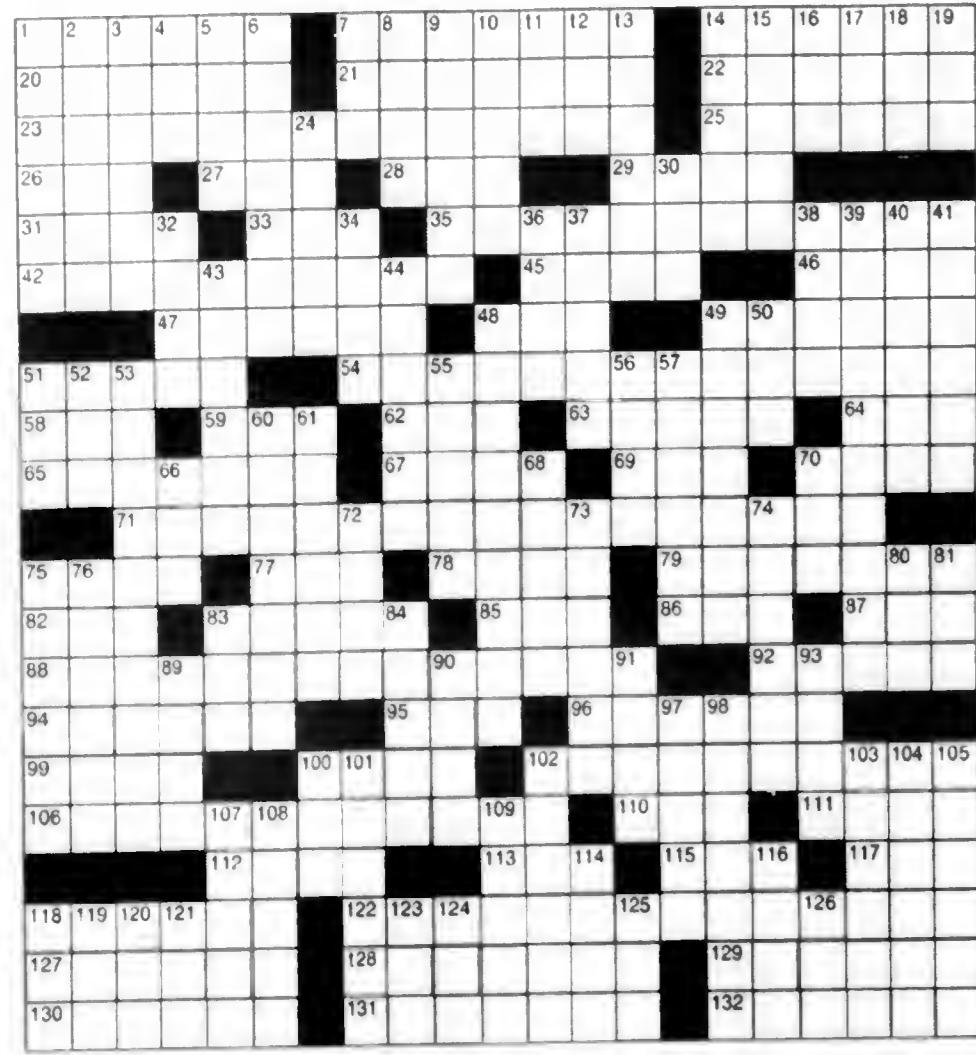

In this class, participants will write a "legacy letter" to their families and loved ones, a statement to be opened, read and cherished after they are gone. This class is not sad or morbid. Instead, it offers you a way to say goodbye to those you love using the words you want, the way you want to say them.

Class will take place on Monday, June 12, 19 & 26th, from 10:30 a.m. to 12 p.m., at Willett Commons, 91 Sohier St. This is a free workshop, but seats are limited and registration is required. (781-383-9112)

Level: Challenging

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

HOROSCOPE

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A stubborn refusal to go ahead on a project mystifies colleagues who expected more flexibility. But once you explain your position, they'll understand and even applaud you.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A relationship seems to be stuck in the same place. Now it's up to you, dear Bovine to decide how far you want to go and how intense you want it to be. Choose well and choose soon.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A relationship progresses more slowly than you would prefer. Best advice: Insist on a frank and open discussion. What is learned could change minds and, maybe, hearts.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) It's all right to be grateful to a workplace colleague who has done you a good turn. But gratitude shouldn't be a life-long obligation. The time to break this cycle is now.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) It's going to be especially nice to be the King of the Zodiac at this time. A recent money squeeze eases. Plans start to work out, and new friends enter Your Majesty's domain.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Before you make a commitment on any level (personal, professional, legal), get all the facts. There might be hidden problems that could cause trouble later on.

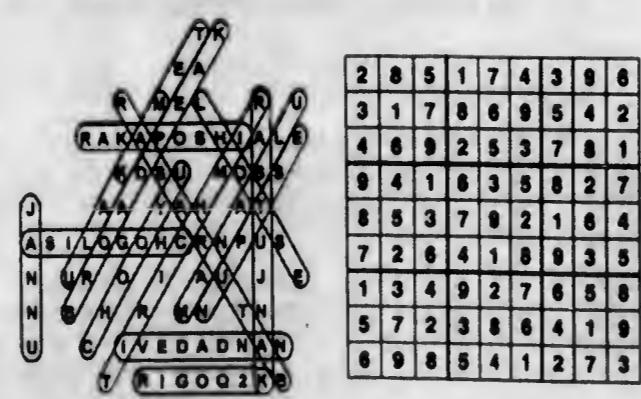

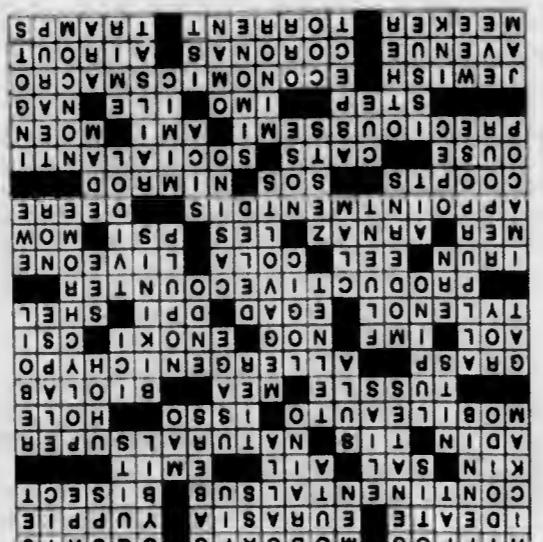

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Personal relationships improve. Professional prospects also brighten. A job offer could come through by month's end. An old friend seeks to make contact.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your sense of fair play doesn't allow you to rush to judgment about a friend who might have betrayed you. Good! Because all the facts are not yet in.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a romantic nature that allows you to find the best in people. You would excel at poetry and drama.
